Support your novice and seasoned leaders

Leadership can be lonely, and teaming with peers can be an effective antidote to this isolation. Our institutes are designed to help you solve problems, foster improvement and apply best practices in a forum that is tailored to the unique demands of your job. Having the opportunity to work on specific challenges and needs with others who are experiencing similar circumstances is essential to job satisfaction, growth, and long term success.

Our Leadership Institutes include
- Training and coursework
- Recurring round table meetings for problem solving and coaching
- Instructors with practitioner experience and perspective

Develop core tenets of leadership

- Shifting from authority figure to influencer. Leaders must strive to better understand and manage themselves and others in order to identify the levers they can pull to influence change.
- Problem solving with a disciplined approach through frameworks and protocols, rather than looking for quick fixes or succumbing to ‘solutionitis’.
- Finding balance—not just life balance, but striking the balance between technical and adaptive leadership.
- Embracing the challenge and opportunity of leading from the middle—successful leaders understand the critical nature of building a culture that is founded in trust and strong relationships.
